THREAT OF EXTRADITION ON A FORGERY CHARGE

Letters in Kelley's Safe Show Lee as Complaining of "Cold Feet" and Talking of "Raiding Enemy's Commissary."

BY J. J. M'AUULIFFE

(A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch)

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKES, Ont., July 23.—D. J. Kelley gave to the Post-Dispatch today for the first time his story of the $1000 check dated March 21, 1933, which was handed to Robert Lee for his brother, John A. Lee, and upon which the two indictments charging attempted extortion were based.

"I never saw the check," Kelley said. "Better say I despise him. If Mr. Folk had ever had an idea that I would be a state's witness he is entirely mistaken. I have nothing to inform him about and you do not often find a man of my name and extraction who would occupy the ignominious position of an informer."

Will Not Be

Lee declared to Attorney-General Crow that he understood this was bribe money, but that he refused to accept it. Lee held the check for two weeks before turning Kelley says that from the time the 1963 session opened, Lee begged him by wire and letter to let him have some money. He was sorry for Lee's distress, but he thought he had given him enough during the preceding two years and was tired of supplying his financial wants.

March 26, 1933, Lee went to the office of The American Queen, the organ of the National Health society in New York and this conversation, according to Kelley,

Lee said he was attending the banquet in honor of D. R. Francis, but he always found time to call on his friends. Kelley asked to see him. After chat-said he was glad to see him. "I was waiting awhile Lee said: 'You know, Kelley, you promised me some money and I think I ought to have it.'" replied Kelley, "that I don't consider,"

"No; I am going direct to Jefferson City."

Well," asked Kelley, "now you want this?" Shall I send a check to you?" "Don't do that," was Lee's caution. "You can see Bob in St. Louis and give it to him. Bob will send the check to me."

Kelley agreed to this arrangement, and when he reached St. Louis a week later he handed the $1000 check to Robert E. Lee.

Lee represented himself as the attorney employed. Kelley furnished the data for Stone's argument, which was never developed, according to Kelley.

Stone was responsible for the Missouri Health Society, which was organized against Kelley's advice.

Kelley thought it would be sufficient if Stone represented himself as the attorney at the Planters' Hotel. Bob thanked him, and said he would see that John got it. March 31, 1963, Kelley received the following written request, signed John A. Lee:

hoodling frightened Lee and for this reason he wanted to get rid of the check.

"Now," said Mr. Kelley, "if I attempted to bribe Lee in that instance, why didn't he take the bribe? Why did he do a similar thing with the other check?"

Kelley then produced the following checks, made payable to Lee, which Lee

Several letters from Lee are withheld by Kelley from publication because they involve other persons. They show more clearly than anything that has yet been published that Kelley is not only a competitor but also a rival of Attorney-General Crow and Secretary of State Cook, who are both prominent Republicans.

The proposition, which called for a large sum of money, dumfounded the New Yorkers, and he wrote Lee plainly to "go to hell."

Kelley is getting much delight out of refreshing himself with Lee's bulky correspondence. Were it only himself whom

Lee has gotten into trouble he says he could not feel resentful, "but," added Kelley, "when I like a man I will never desert him when he needs help, and that is

"I merely relate a few of those things to show you I am taking advantage of every opening."

It has not yet been positively decided that Mrs. Kelley will go to Jefferson City.

"I Lose, and My Feet Are Cold."

Mr. Harris as well, will take charge of the correspondence. Mr. Kelley went out for a drive today, and as he neared the dividing line between the United States and Canada he remarked to the driver:

Now, Tom, you are getting close to the Sam's territory. Guess you be -- around here."

He says he has a fear of beir inform my position or make honorable terms of capitulation to the enemy. Yours truly, JOHN A. LEE.

"Some of these letters," said Kelley, laughing, "certainly should add to the gallery of nations. There were so many that I did not take time to read them, but I am having a little fun now. Here is one that is real pathetic:

"St. Louis, July 12, 1931.—My papers are losing $250 a year, and I need help. I do not intend to be held personally responsible for anything that occurs in the future, as I have quit fight. Let your people carry out their contract with me and I will quit the game. I am a loser and my feet are cold.

"JOHN A. LEE.

In one letter Kelley is addressed as "Dear Old Lamb." It was during the session of 1931, and requests Kelley to look into the book situation. "You do this," adds Lee, because my business is too trivial and parsimonious." Kelley was asked why Lee addressed him as "Lamb." "I suppose," he explained, "it was because he had plucked my wool."

In several letters figurative terms are used pointing out Lee's financial needs. Here is a sample:

"St. Louis, March 10, 1932.—Dear Friend: I have been true and faithful day and night. Have taken all the abuse. I need $150 every month. I have earned it and should have it. You charge me with getting anything. Who should have gotten it? Who did the work. You are going to go up against a hard dry season here next spring.

"You might get your seeds down early and the ground prepared, so that the crop will be too far along when drought comes. Will not sign my name. In future you will sign all letters X."

Business Pleas

With Phelps.

The next day he wrote:

"Brother Kelley: I saw P. the other day" (evidently referring to Phelps) "and told him you wanted him to handle the business next time. First words he uttered were: 'Good, would he put up a retainer fee right away? If so, we could use some of it in the campaign next fall.'"

"You know what that kind of talk means. If you want to hold the situation, I can hold it and no one else, but I must be put on payroll. I can't do business without large resources."

J. A. L.

Oct. 2, 1931, Lee wrote to Kelley asking for a loan of $100. He wanted to go in the printing business. He thought this amount would make him strong and steady. When Kelley refused to stand for this "touch" Lee wrote as follows:

"Oct. 17, 1931.—I did not think you would go into the printing business. If a fellow does not try he will never succeed. Layton was around to see me the other day. Can't we fix up some plan to get business for Interstate Grocer? You know I am your friend and am ready to stand by you. Good business principles, however, should not be overlooked. If all around fellows have any money we should take away from them. Why not let me get it? I stand by my friends. I always stand by people who stand by me. On account of my necessities I do not want to miss an opportunity to raid the commissary department of the enemy."

"July 22, 1931.—Dear Friend: I have no ill-feeling against you, but you know I can't live like a department store girl on $3 a week. If I had margin money I would buy today. No corn left. Farmers must feed their stock. December wheat will go from 60c to 45c. If I had margin money I would buy wheat, wheat."

J. A. L.

"July 23, 1931.—Friend Kelley: If I had money yesterday to take my corn crop I would be $300 ahead this morning. Corn crop is destroyed. Finest crop of wheat in years."

J. A. L.

No Dictation From Dockery.

"August 10, 1932.—Friend Kelley: I do not intend to do anything rash this session. Nothing in any rocket or comic order, but I intend to personally control things and not let Dockery boss the job."

"April 5, 1931.—Just finished hard campaign. Wells, gold Democrat, elected mayor. Stone gulped and went out of town. Aligned back against the ticket. Bryan wrote a letter denouncing Wells, but I stood by the guns and have licked them all."

Kelley today received the following letter from St. Louis signed W. N. M. It is typewritten. The initials signed resemble the handwriting of John A. Lee:

"St. Louis, Mo., July 16, 1933.—Have been away from town and am going away again in a day or two to stay for a long time. Your address was published in St. Louis Republic this morning, consequently I know where to write you direct."

"You are wrong about the telegram warning you. It was not sent by Lee, but by one whom you had given employment to and who felt grateful to you."

"I have for years been in Lee's confidence, and he has told me many things while working on those prosecution deals collecting samples for Stone and others. I had a talk with him when he came back from Jefferson City and he caught on and had your friend wire you."

"The telegram went by Postal Co. Lee's frank was Western Union. I learned the signature from seeing him sign it to a letter. He's once, and thought it best and safest for your friend to use it rather than your own."

"This is my last letter to you, as you don't seem to be able to profit by anything I advise you of and I can't afford to get mixed up in this matter."

"I wrote you one or two notes afterward over same signature trying to help you, but you seem determined to get into trouble. Lee has a stack of letters about everything and everybody looked up in his safe. He has several wherein you positively hook up Ziegler as your backer and principal. I have seen them lately, there are at least one hundred of them, so be careful if you don't want the 'polar bear' he referred to in several letters, brought in."

Extradition on Forgery Charge.

"Lee is feeling vindictive as toward you claims that you coaxed him into the scheme and then helped Farris to put him in the hole; claims that the entire exposure is your fault, and that he could not help testifying as you had involved him so that he could not do otherwise as Crow and Folk had gotten hold of his bank account."

"Now for the last time let me warn you. You are in great danger. Folk, Crow and Lee have entered into a plan to bring you back here and send you to the penitentiary for seven years or more. They think you have given a lot of Lee's letters, including some I have written to Jourdan and Farris to be used at the trial on July 28 at Jeff City. Lee is to ask to see the letters and when he comes to certain ones he will at once swear that they are forgeries, and Crow or Folk will get out information or have you indicted for forgery. This is an offense for which you can be extradited, as it is in all treaties."

"What interest have you in Farris and the others, anyway, that you must keep yourself in the papers and keep following Lee? Let them alone and mind your own business. The man who keeps looking for trouble generally finds it."

"If you furnish any original letters to these people, you are foolish, for they will trump you or force a forgery charge against you sure."

"The letter is addressed as follows: 'Personal to D. J. Kelley, Editor, 'Care American Queen, 'New York, N. Y.'"

In handing this letter to me, Kelley said: 'I have nothing to conceal and I challenge Lee to print any letter he may have from me. I have no fear.'

Letter Credited to John A. Lee.

I have compared the penmanship with that of two letters postmarked Jan. 4, 1931, and May 5, 1932, and it indicates that the letter just received was written by Lee. Kelley knows no St. Louis man with initials W. N. M. The letter is postmarked St. Louis, July 16.

"July 22, 1931.—I think I did good work for pure food at Springfield and ought to have $250."

"March 17, 1932.—Dear Friend: I am confident an effort will be made at repeal legislation next time. I want to do a lot of work. Get $1000 from state and $1000 from merchants association. These fellows are going to put up a great fight. Two alum men just in to see me. There are 20 of them in a combination. I shall say 'no more. I am not a beggar or a pauper, but if you don't do anything there are other ways of getting money that I know of. There are other opportunities that are sure, but I am grateful to you for courtesies extended. Yours truly, JOHN A. LEE."

"March 29, 1932.—Dear Friend: Stone is working for Orchard, Farris and Morton, and they are going to help him. I want to see them defeated. If they are defeated it will save me embarrassment in placing them in commission."

Got $1000 for Railroad Committee.

Here are some choice extracts from other letters:

"Nov. 14, 1931.—Send me a few dollars, as I need $4 to $5 every time I go out."

"March, 1931.—I got $1000 for my railroad committee."

"Feb. 28, 1932.—Am not making any money. Have stood by all and will again in future. You will see from enclosed slip that I am a member of the St. Louis 101. Must have money to keep my standing. Need $50 to start. You ought to give me a job for the National Health society at $150 a month."

"Nov. 30, 1931.—I beat Bryan 534. Dockery 268 votes. Man against me was ex-grand master of Masons and now grand potentate of Shriners. Pretty good work for a scrub, wasn't it?"

"Aug. 3, 1931.—Grateful for your promise of help, and I admit I deserve it."

"December, 1931.—I have a scheme to get up a trade paper combination. We could give the trusts and big corporations to give us advertising."

"I have no attorney.," he replied. "I am obeying instructions from the attorney-general and the circuit attorney."

"Were you expecting the letters to be made public?"

"It had been stated frequently that they would be given out."

"Did you expect them to be published?"

"I didn't worry about them at all, whether they would or would not be given out."

"What effect do you think they will have on the case?"

"I have no case."

"Upon investigation of boodle charges, and your evidence in regard to the boodle transactions."

"I haven't the least idea, and am not considering myself."

"Have you any explanation of the letters, and your reasons for writing them as you did?"

"I have been told by the attorney-general not to discuss them in any way."

"March 29, 1932.—Brother Kelley—You are under positive obligations to give me those lithographs as I can send them into the courts."

These were lithographs of himself, which Kelley duly forwarded at an expense of $200.

"August, 1931.—I have to join the St. Louis Club to be with Francis and others, and will need $250."

He did not get it.

"I HAVE NO CASE," IS

LEE'S ONLY COMMENT

John A. Lee said Thursday that the publication in the Post-Dispatch Wednesday of the letters which he had written to Daniel J. Kelley, and which showed various details of the boodle negotiations between the former lieutenant-governor and the agent of the Baking Powder Trust, was not a surprise to him.

He refused, however, to discuss them at any length, stating that he had been counseled not to do so.

"Are you acting upon the advice of your attorney in refusing to discuss them?" he was asked.

"I have no attorney," he replied. "I am obeying instructions from the attorney-general and the circuit attorney."

"Were you expecting the letters to be made public?"

"It had been stated frequently that they would be given out."

COMMON SCHOOLS BEHIND THE AGE

Chicago University Professor Declares They Fail to Reflect Our Best Social Conditions.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 23.—That the common schools are behind the age and carry many obsolete and useless subjects, is the theory of George Herbert Locke, professor of pedagogical science at the University of Chicago. He gave expression to his views in a lecture at the Midway Institute yesterday.

"According to the tenets of modern education," said he, "the school ought to reflect the best of the social conditions under which we live. But the facts in the case are that civil life goes ahead and the school comes long after. The right kind of social progress cannot be obtained if this state of affairs remains. They are persisting in the school many studies which do not correspond to any need in social life, and which are there only as traditions from the past, when they had some social value."

"For a great many people Latin, Greek, algebra and kindred subjects have no conceivable practical application. If a teacher is unable to answer the query often made by boys, 'What good is this study?' the study ought to be dropped."

"Education today prepares a man so that he could very easily cope with conditions of a generation past, but to meet present conditions it is practically useless. The times change, but we do not change our educational practices to agree. This talk about the average child is preposterous. Some day I shall establish an educational museum. In it exhibit No. 1 will be the child; No. 2 will be the 'average boy'; and No. 3 will be the 'average girl.' They will be curiosities. I know Johnny and Susie and all the other boys and girls,

Further Evidence Is Sought Against Man Who Declares That He Committed Forgery.

Sheriff Thompson of Belleville has asked Sheriff E. Hunsley of Barton county, Mo., to attempt to identify August Meyer, 31 years old as the man who, 12 years ago, got $700 from him on a forged deed to half a section of farm land in Barton county. Meyer says he is the man, but the sheriff thinks he confessed to readily.

Meyer was arrested on the complaint of three wealthy farmers near Millstadt, who say that he negotiated with them to purchase form for $500 and borrowed $1 of them to go to Belleville to draw the purchase money. They found that he had no money, there, and had him arrested on a charge of swindling.

The funeral of Edward T. Ten Broeck is announced to take place from the residence, 3612 Shenandoah avenue, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Mr. Ten Broeck was born in Watford, N. Y., Sept. 5, 1846, and had been traveling out of St. Louis selling to the paint trade for a number of years. A widow survives. The body is to be cremated.

CHURCH MOURNS A DOUBLE LOSS

Equiem Services for Vicar-General Will Be Held Before Those for Pope.

At 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening the body of the late Rt. Rev. Mgr. Henry Muehlen, vicar general of the archdiocese, will be removed from the chapel of Ursula convent to the Old Cathedral on Walnut street, at which place solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

His funeral will be celebrated at 10 o'clock at the Old Cathedral by the Rev. Father Charles Ziegler, of St. Maline church, who will preach the sermon. The assistant priest will be Father Ziegler, deacon, Francis Goller of St. Peter Paul's church, and the subdeacon, Mr. Henry Schrage of St. Agatha's.

A meeting of priests and laymen, to be held at the Old Cathedral on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, will be held to arrange for the funeral of the late Pope, which will be celebrated on Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

The funeral of the late Pope will be the most solemn known to the church. Bishop Glennon will be celebrant. The funeral will be held at the Old Cathedral on the day of the obsequies at Rome. It is supposed that this will be the last funeral of a Pope to be celebrated in St. Louis.

On the day of the obsequies all Catholic churches will be draped in black, and in each of them requiem masses, either high or low, will be said.

SHOOTING PUZZLES VICTIM

Max W. Meyer, Wounded by Man Who Said He Had Grievance, Does Not Know Assailant.

Max W. Meyer, a member of an Olive street furniture firm, was shot in the hip late Wednesday by a man whom Meyer says he does not know. Meyer says the man accused him of having insulted his wife, struck him in the face, and then fired twice, the second bullet taking effect. The man escaped.

The shooting occurred at Mr. Meyer, who lives at 502 Morgan street, was passing the corner of Delmar and Academy avenues on his way home. After the assailant had disappeared behind a clump of bushes in a yard half a block from the scene of the shooting the wounded man was assisted to his home.

Mr. Meyer declares that he does not know the man, and that he saw him but once before, when he entered his store. He says he never saw the man's wife, so far as he knows.

Meyer describes his assailant as being about 25 years old, five feet 4 inches tall, of dark complexion and wearing dark clothes. He says he thinks he is a printer and that he lives on Locust street, between Beaumont street and Garrison avenue.

TO AGITATE SUNDAY CLOSING.

Butchers and Grocers Will Meet in Fountain Park Church Sunday.

In order to begin a war against keeping stores open on Sunday, the Butchers' Union and Grocers' Association are to hold a mass meeting Sunday evening at the Fountain Park Congregational Church.

The object is to give expression to the purpose of grocers and butchers in closing their stores on Sunday, beginning Sept. 1. Shooting additional force will be made by President Walter Pfeiffer and Secretary John H. Schofield of the Butchers' Union and by President Charles Pfeiffer and Secretary Robert E. Lee of the Grocers' Association. Marian A. Murphy, state senator, will make the principal address.

DOUBLE RIVER TOLLS CHARGED MERCHANTS

Excessive Bridge Arbitrary Does Not Guarantee Delivery of Shipments to St. Louis.

G. S. Derrickson of the Derrickson-Ray Boat Store Co., 206 North Commercial street, has furnished the Post-Dispatch with an illustration of the additional and unnecessary charges that the merchants of St. Louis are forced to pay under the existing terminal conditions.

"On June 16 we received at the depot of the St. Louis Transfer Co., Broadway and Spruce street, a box of brushes from the Bromwell Brush and Wire Goods Co. of Cincinnati," he said.

"The freight rate from Cincinnati to East St. Louis on brushes is 40 cents to St. Louis 47 cents—per 100 pounds.

"We were not only charged the full St. Louis rate, but were taxed in addition for bringing the goods across the river.

"The consignment weighed 200 pounds. That made the freight charges 94 cents. When we received the goods at our depot our bill was $1.13.

"The transfer company had tacked on 27 cents extra for bringing the box from East St. Louis to the depot. The bill was $1.40. The transfer company charged the St. Louis rate for bringing it to East St. Louis.

Pay Freight or Pay Storage.

"When the transfer company has your goods, there is only one thing to do, that is to pay the charges and take them out, because you are taxed for storage for every day you leave them there.

"Our bill was $2.00 and the Bromwell company had allowed us $1.04 for freight allowance, making the balance $1.96.

"As the freight charges were $1.13, we sent them a check for $1.13. Last week we received a demand from them for the 15 cents difference. In their letter the Bromwell company said, 'We pay bridge toll, but we don't pay drayage.' We do not contract to deliver goods at your door. They evidently thought the difference was for drayage from the depot in St. Louis to our door.

"Yesterday the Bromwell Brush and Wire Goods Co. representative called on us. He said he had differences over freight charges to straighten out with all his St. Louis customers.

"He called up the Toledo, St. Louis & Western, the road our box came over, and asked the freight rate to St. Louis. The reply was 47 cents. Then he asked for East St. Louis and they told him 40 cents. Then he looked at our bill and saw where we had been forced to pay the through rate to St. Louis, then the extra 25 cents to the transfer company and at that haul it was our store ourselves or pay storage.

"The amount involved is small, of course, but it illustrates the condition of things—a condition that ought to be remedied.

"The Post-Dispatch is making a good fight to knock out the bridge arbitrary and now is the time for the merchants and shippers to join hands with it in shaking off this unfair and unnecessary burden."

FOUR BITTEN BY MAD DOG.

One Death by Hydrophobia and Others Feared.

OMAHA, Neb., July 23.—Mrs. G. W. Stover died today with hydrophobia, the result of a bite by a mad dog four weeks ago. Mrs. G. F. Gellenbeck, bitten by the same animal, developed serious symptoms of rabies today, and has been sent to the Plaster Institute of Chicago for treatment.

Mrs. Stover's husband and Vena Schatz, a servant, were also bitten, and fears are expressed that their wounds will result seriously.

Mrs. Stover's illness was accompanied by terrible convulsions and it was found necessary to administer chloral to relieve the last agonies of the disease.

IVY SETTING FOR LAWN FETE.

Self Culture Club to Raise Money for Steam Heating Plant.

The Self Culture Club will give a lawn party Thursday evening on the lawn back of the club rooms at 1822 Carr street. The lawn which is bordered with tall green plants and creeper vines that cover the fence and the adjoining brick wall will be lighted by electricity and lanterns. The proceeds will be used to pay for installing a steam heating apparatus in the building. The members of the club are anxious to surprise Mr. and Mrs. Lighty and Mr. Shanon, and they told him that funds for the heating apparatus when they return from their vacations.

EMPTIED PISTOLS AT ONE ANOTHER

Town Marshal and Two Other Men Rode Through the Streets Popping Away at Every Jump.

The village of New Douglas, on the Clover Leaf, in the eastern part of Madison County, was the scene recently of some tall shooting.

Cai Jones of Worden was arrested in New Douglas by Marshal Livesey for being drunk and disorderly. Instead of placing him in a cell he was for free air left in the corridor. He set to work at once to get out, and after two hours' work had loosened the rack under the window sufficient to move the bars and dropped out.

After escaping he got into a buggy with Charles Campbell of Sorento and away they started. The city marshal secured a rig and started down Main street in pursuit. In front of Peter Watts' hardware store the rig passed. Jones drew his revolver and fired at close range at the marshal, but the bullet missed and tore a gash in the buggy top. The marshal fired five shots, bringing down the horse in the other buggy.

The men leaped into another buggy and a furious ride down Main street ensued. The men standing up in the rig and emptying their revolvers at each other. Incoming citizens rushed to a hardware store and armed themselves with Winchester. Led by Supervisor John Camp they made common warfare against the pair and captured Campbell. Jones got away. At 2 o'clock Wednesday the Campbell rig escaped from the jail. He got to the railroad yards and boarded the No. 3 south-bound train, going, it is thought, to East St. Louis.

Only the near relatives of the bride and bridegroom were present.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth A. Ringo and Mr. Harry M. Duhring took place Wednesday at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride, 4528 McMillan avenue.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. M. Rhodes of the English Lutheran church.

Miss Viola Linden of 1715 North Grand avenue entertained the R. A. B. club on her sixteenth birthday, Friday evening.

An enjoyable evening was spent after which luncheon was served. Dancing and games were the features of the evening.

Miss Teresa Coleman was the guest of honor. Those present were: Misses T. Coleman, Rachel, Clara, Emma, N. James, V. Linden, L. Linden, P. McKelley, H. Tompkins, E. Tompkins and M. Wamhoff. Messrs. W. Emory, F. Greves, K. Kunz, W. Lewis, M. Thompson and R. Woods.

Mrs. McKinley is entertaining a house party at her country home, "Sunset Lodge," near Leasburg, Mo. The guests are: Misses Elizabeth and Marion Powell of St. Charles, Miss Dot Dickerson of St. Louis, Miss Laura G. de Young of Webster Groves and Miss Kelley; Messrs. Will and Walter C. Richard, L. P. Curtis, Charles Norris of St. Louis and Robert C. Powell of St. Charles.

A pretty home wedding of Wednesday was that of Miss Violet Bonita and Mr. Henry Ebert. The ceremony took place at Mr. Ebert's home, 4161 McPherson avenue, in the presence of the immediate family and a few intimate friends.

Miss Bonita was attended as maid of honor by her sister, Miss Frances Bonita of New Orleans, La., and Mr. Ebert had Mr. Henry Freed as best man.

Mrs. L. A. Crosswhite and her daughter, Miss Crete Thraill, of the West End Hotel, will depart Saturday for Ocean City, N. Y., to remain until fall.

SPREAD OF STRIKE FEARED

Jefferson Guard Charged by Police With Doing Nothing to Protect World's Fair Workmen.

Some World's Fair contractors fear that the strike of laborers on the Machinery building, which has been made complete by the accession of the staff workers, will spread to other buildings. The walkout of the staff workers Wednesday was accompanied by no disturbances.

No arrests have followed the riot at the Machinery building. The police say that no eye-witnesses can be found, and charge that the 91 Jefferson Guards furnished no protection to the assaulted men. The Westinghouse people have removed all of their non-union men from the building. They say Tuesday's trouble was occasioned by a difference of opinion as to whether their work should be done by common labor, as at present, or by skilled labor.

Friday Remnant Day Clearing Sale Bargains

Many years of fair dealing, selling good, reliable merchandise at low prices, makes every day a busy one at Nugents. Fridays are especially busy, because it's a clean-up day—a day when Remnants, Broken Lots and Special Purchases are offered at a price to close them out.

Tomorrow—Friday—will be the last Remnant Day but one before our semi-annual stock-taking. We must clean up, and to make doubly sure of it, have quoted prices that are in many instances less than half, a third, and some at one-fourth actual values.

ATTELL AND REGAN WILL FIGHT HERE

Match Was Made This Morning by West End Club to Take Place July 30.

Abe Attell and Johnny Regan, two of the cleverest fighters that ever showed at the West End Club, will be the next attraction put on by Manager Charles Haughton of the local local organization.

The fight will be a bona fide fight for the featherweight championship of the country. The weight will be 122 pounds ring-side, the legitimate figure for the class.

The contest will be 15 rounds, owing to the hot weather, and will take place July 30 at the West End Club. Harry Sharpe will referee.

The match was closed this morning. Abe Attell having arrived from Chicago and concluded arrangements with Haughton. Several preliminaries of class will be put on with the main bout.

The Young Corbett bout, which was announced for that date, is still on, and has been postponed for two weeks from the original date of July 30.

The matching of Attell and Regan has been long expected and fight followers of St. Louis consider the contest the best match that could possibly be arranged at the weight. There is no question but that Attell is the best man in the business, and there is no fighter of consequence in the country that has disputed the title with him at this weight successfully.

Bitter Fight
Is Expected.
Especially interesting attaches to the coming contest from the fact that both boys are more or less enemies and have been fighting for a bout ever since their impromptu battle in the training quarters under Jack McKenna.

Attell became jealous of Regan's growing prestige and the bitterness between the two resulted in a fight which was interrupted before any damage was done.

Both men are admitted to a degree. Than Attell there is no faster, cleverer fighter in the business. Opponents find him a phantom who is always just out of reach. His footwork is marvelous and his ability to land a blow with stinging blows his principal stock in trade.

Knockouts are not in his line, however. Regan is the cleverest fighter who ever showed at St. Louis, with the possible exception of Cooney Kelley. Few fighters have been able to hit Regan when he is in condition and fighting his best. He is carefully aggressive and in himself somewhat shy on a punch, though he did put away poor Clarence Forbes at Memphis.

Attell will probably do his training at Clayton and only one week to get in shape. He is in fair condition, being a clean liver and not prone to dissipate. He looks to be in fair shape at the present time and says a week will prove enough for him. Regan has been in training for some time.

Young Corbett's next battle will be at Philadelphia next Friday against Billy Maynard of New York. This pair fought once before, and Corbett had a hard time of it before the six rounds were over.

Champion Tommy Ryan of midweight fame, also one of the best fighters in the business, bobbed up at San Francisco yesterday and inspected James Corbett, after which he announced his opinion that Corbett would win. Ryan says Jeffries gave him a good lesson. There is plenty of money out in San Francisco that Ryan can have for the asking, if his opinion is right.

Developing Form.
Each of the contestants has a large following and speculation in this race will be running high. The last race at the Fair Grounds, which she won with ease from such horses as Walnut Hill, Check Morgan and Imboden. If she runs as well today, there is no doubt that she will capture this stake.

In my opinion, Wreath of Ivy is the one that will give Mafalda the most trouble. These two met June 17, with 8 pounds in favor of Ivy, and she beat Mafalda by half a length. There is a difference of only 3 pounds between them today and the distance is a furlong more.

The farther it is the better is Mafalda's chance of victory.
It is impossible to select Check Morgan to win on her recent races. She seems to be a hard horse for a jockey to handle. On what she has done at Delmar I cannot even place her in the money for today.

Mildred L., with only 100 pounds up, has a splendid chance to win this race. She has a great advantage in the weights, and her last two races were good enough to make her a formidable candidate. And, moreover, she may be much better than she has shown.

The handicap at a mile and 70 yards has only four candidates in it but they are all good ones. It is one of Mr. Maginn's masterpieces and therefore every animal is not only supposed to have, but actually has an even chance.

FIFTH RACE IS HANDICAPPER'S MASTERPIECE

Belle Stake Event, With Six Horses to Start, Should Also Be a Very Close Contest, With Mafalda Entitled to First Place.

TOKALON IN SECOND RACE SEEMS BEST THING OFFERED

BY R. D. WALSH.
DELMAR RACE TRACK, July 23.—There is an excellent racing program on for Delmar today. The card includes a stake race and a handicap. The stake is called the Belle, and is for 2-year-olds exclusively, at five and one-half furlongs.

Only six of those originally entered will start. The race should furnish a good contest, as four of the six are juveniles of high class.

T. P. Hayes' representative, Mafalda, will probably be made favorite, because of her well-known speed and general record.

Her best race to date was in the Junior Championship at the Fair Grounds, which she won with ease from such horses as Walnut Hill, Check Morgan and Imboden. If she runs as well today, there is no doubt that she will capture this stake.

YOUNG CORBETT WAS VERY TAME

Though Tired From Overweight He Managed to Wallop Mr. Jimmy Briggs at Boston.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, July 23.—A hog-fight champion, "Young Corbett" by name, and a lightweight named Jimmy Briggs, fought 10 slow rounds here last night before the Tammany Athletic Club. Corbett getting the decision.

Corbett weighed nearly 140 pounds and was all out from his own exertions before the fight was over. Briggs, palpably afraid of Corbett's terrible punch, played a waiting game, obviously for the sole purpose of being able to say he had gone the limit. An agreement to break clean prevented the champion from getting to Briggs in the mixups, and at long range Briggs danced away from him.

Corbett refused to set a fast pace, and he was wise. Briggs finished fresh as a daisy, and would have been able to make a master and 100 delegates are in attendance. The management anticipates the largest crowd in the history of the Southwestern regatta. Twenty thousand programs have been printed, and fully twice that number of people are expected to be present during the two days of the races.

Knox will start Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock and be renewed Sunday at the same hour.
The entire aggregation of competing armmen will be assembled before the first race, and the referee will caution them that the rule will be strictly enforced.

RELIEF FOR TORNADO VICTIMS.

Paterson Citizens Providing Aid for Stricken Sufferers.
PATERSON, N. J., July 23.—Mayor John Hinchelliffe today called together the leading citizens of Paterson to devise ways and means of providing relief for the people most sorely stricken by the tornado, which wrought death and devastation in this city yesterday.

Two thousand began today clearing the wreckage strewn in the streets by the storm. In summing up the tornado's work, Paterson today counts three dead, 100 injured, 50 families made homeless, and a property loss estimated at $200,000. The tornado moved a path of destruction 400 feet wide from the southwest to the northeast, leveling city and country alike, and under treatment at the hospitals. It is expected all will recover.

ROWERS MUST ALL BE RIGHT IN LINE

No Oarsman Can Compete Who Is Not on Hand When the Southwestern Roll Is Called Saturday.

Arrangements for the Southwestern Rowing Association regatta, which takes place Saturday and Sunday at Creve Coeur Lake, were completed at a meeting of the association held last night.

It was decided that the new rule requiring oarsmen to be on the mark for races at the hour appointed will be rigidly enforced. Any contestant not in line at the time will be left out.

The entire aggregation of competing armmen will be assembled before the first race, and the referee will caution them that the rule will be strictly enforced.

SPORT BRIEFS

If Wrestler Fred Doerr wants a hot weather match he can get one for a side bet by applying to James Walls, 2100 Olive street. Walls has an unknown who he thinks can down the hero in the three-hour match at the Columbia Athletic Club last winter.

Alex Pearson, the lad who pitched for the Homestead team and won the championship of the St. Louis club, was formerly tried out by the St. Louis club. Homestead won out in yesterday's game 2 to 0. Rube Waddell was to have pitched for Homestead, but failed to show up.

The Derby colt Maxey Blumenthal broke his neck yesterday while being exercised at Hawthorne. The colt bolted, ran into a fence and turned a somersault over it. The stable boy escaped injury. The colt belongs to Ed Corrigan.

Shot by a Wedding Guest.
Frank Starr, 35 years old, living at 1215 South Second street, was taken to the City Hospital Wednesday night with a bullet wound in his chest. Starr was employed as a cook in East Madison, Ill., and says he was shot by one of the guests at a wedding celebration, by a man whom he knows only as "Mike." His wound is superficial.

Always Tired Never Rested
To be tired out from hard work or bodily exercise is natural and rest is the remedy, but there is an exhaustion without physical exertion and a tired never-rested feeling—a weariness without work that is unnatural and shows some serious disorder is threatening the health. One of the chief causes of that "Always-tired, never-rested condition" is impure blood and bad circulation. Unless the body is nourished with rich, pure blood there is lack of nervous force, the muscles become weak.

For over four years I suffered with general debility, causing a thorough breaking down of my system. My cousin, who had been benefited by S. S. S., told me about it. I tried it and it cured me. I heartily recommend it to all who may be afflicted with a thoroughly good blood. Yours truly, JOHN A. BRYANT, 44 W. Ninth St., Columbia, Tenn.

SSS
S. S. S., which contains the best ingredients for cleansing the blood and toning up the system. It is a vegetable blood purifier and tonic combined, that enriches the blood and through it the entire system is nourished and refreshing sleep comes to the tired, never-rested body.

Drunkenness IS A DISEASE!

"Will-Power" Will Not Cure It.

Drink is the greatest curse of mankind. Many a young man of greatest promise has found the disheartening grave of a drunkard instead of an honorable place in society. Physicians have long recognized that continued indulgence in alcoholic stimulants causes the stomach and digestive organs to become diseased. In the vast majority of cases, therefore, habitual drunkenness is a physical disease, and no amount of mental resolve or "faith cure" will cure it.

"ORRINE" WILL POSITIVELY AND PERMANENTLY CURE THE DRINK HABIT.

We guarantee this and will refund the money should the remedy fail. But it never does fail!

"ORRINE" is tasteless, odorless and colorless, and can be given without the patient's knowledge in tea, coffee, water or milk. It tones up the diseased stomach and gives a hearty appetite and good digestion.

Members of the W. C. T. U., clergymen, physicians and public men all over the land endorse this wonderful remedy.

Rev. Thos. C. Easton, D.D., 627 E. Capitol St., Washington, D. C., writes: "I can safely say, from years under my personal observation, that 'ORRINE' is a marvelous and permanent remedy for chronic inebriety."

POST-DISPATCH PLANT DELIGHTED MR. WONG

Chinese World's Fair Commissioner and Assistants Visited for the First Time a Complete and Modern Newspaper Office and Were Greatly Edified and Pleased.

Tuesday was newspaper day with Mr. Wong Kai-Kah, Chinese World's Fair vice-commissioner, and his three assistants, Mr. Kee Owyang, Mr. Li Kai Hsien and Mr. Tong Suh Yee. Mr. Wong and his assistants were invited to meet several newspaper editors at luncheon at the Mercantile Club, given in his honor by Mr. John Schroers. After luncheon he spent the afternoon inspecting the offices and plant of the Post-Dispatch.

Mr. Wong takes a great interest in the American press and its methods. He admits that it is very different from the Chinese press and is astonished at the publicity which everything receives.

It was this interest in the American press which led him to accept promptly an invitation to visit the Post-Dispatch building. Although educated in this country, he had never thoroughly examined a modern and complete newspaper plant.

Mr. Wong and his assistants went through the entire plant, taking the greatest interest in every detail. They inspected the presses, and Mr. Wong started a big press by touching a button. There was not a detail in connection with the printing of the paper nor the printing of the color pages, the fastening of the plates on the machine, folding and putting that escaped the notice of the Chinese visitors.

From the presses they went to the engine room and inspected the generators, motors and switches of the complete electrical plant. They then went to the photographic and engraving department. Mr. Wong was especially interested in learning how pictures are made for the daily newspapers.

He said that one Chinese publication is illustrated, but illustrated rarely and after extremely old-fashioned notions. It was a source of much astonishment to him that an hour and a half after an event takes place, it can be illustrated by perfect pictures in the Post-Dispatch.

The process of making the color pages for the Sunday Post-Dispatch claimed special attention. He examined the art work in the art department and the engraving process. While in the photograph room he pleasantly consented to be photographed and the group of visitors are shown in the illustration of this article.

Neither Mr. Wong nor his assistants had seen the linotype machine work, and they mastered the details of the machine in a very short time, having souvenir lines printed for them.

The stereotype room was next visited. There Mr. Wong saw for the first time the making of plates for the press, having seen only the use of ordinary forms for hand presses in China. When he found that a plate can be prepared for the press in nine minutes and that it could be infinitely duplicated, he was greatly delighted.

"These are things," he said, "that this young Chinese should learn to do."

After leaving the mechanical department he inspected the editorial rooms and the circulation department. There was not a point of interest in all the six floors of the Post-Dispatch building that he passed without inspection and inquiry.

"The press in America," he said, "is a great power. It gives publicity to everything. But to outsiders it is sometimes difficult to know precisely what is the truth, as you read one party's paper and find that one thing is true, and then read another and find that something else is true."

Mr. Wong thinks the independent press is best.

Noticing a line about booting and in answer to a question Mr. Wong said: "Oh, yes, we have the booters in China, but it is very difficult to catch them; as with your American booters. When we catch them they are exiled. The Chinese way of making public demonstration against bad officials differs from the American way."

"Americans hold meetings and express themselves in public prints. Chinese close all their stores and cease to do business until the bad official has been dismissed, a very effective mode, as a tax can be collected while the stores are closed."

Mr. Wong is a bright and entertaining talker. He is quick to catch points and uses the English language with fluency. His former experience in this country has put him in touch with American ideas, and he has much of that keen sense of humor which distinguishes Minister Wu.

In the course of his conversation he developed a very peculiar situation in which he was placed. One of his ideas for the Chinese exhibit was to have a section devoted to Chinese art.

Chinese Art to Be Displayed.

"Art," said Mr. Wong, "in China is a matter of the past, and the Chinese look backward. There are distinguished artists in China, able men as capable of doing beautiful work as any that have ever lived, but they are scarcely able to suggest to the Chinese art as it is today. It is to value in Chinese art in the minds of the Chinese. No matter how beautiful a work of art may be, if it is not Chinese, it is not Chinese art. It is a mistake to think that it was made within a recent date. It has no interest in it. But if it is old, it is a thousand years old, his interest is very keen, and he places a value on it corresponding to its age."

This, says Mr. Wong, "makes progress difficult."

"My idea was to give the American people a view of the art of China, selected from the government's treasures and from the treasures of a great many wealthy Chinese. They would include objects never before seen in America, which have been kept in the families of the wealthy Chinese for generations. When I proposed this idea, it was received with great favor, both by the government officials and Chinese in private life. Great landowners agreed readily to lend collections representing Chinese art and industry."

"Another idea I had," said he, "was to induce as many as possible of the younger Chinese gentlemen, especially the younger Chinese, to visit the Exposition, and many of them have done so. I found that in order to get into the United States it is necessary for a Chinese gentleman to give bond for $500 for his return to China."

"In other words, he must bond himself as a bale of goods is bonded for the Exposition, and I fear very much that it will operate against my plan. I am in hopes that something will be done by the United States government, which is so kindly disposed toward us, to obviate this difficulty."

Mr. Wong has a number of ideas with regard to the development of China, one of which is particularly to the World's Fair. He thinks that China should be left alone and be permitted to develop herself. I think it would be unwise to try to force western ideas upon the mass of the people, who must be educated up to them. He believes their awakening to the western civilization will be brought about by railroads and popular education.

The other idea is in line with his suggestion that Chinese gentlemen and their sons visit the United States. He thinks the wealthy young men of China should come to America and study American ways, learning how to work as American young men work and to get in touch with our ideas.

The Chinese

Officials.

The Chinese commission is composed of the official class who are known generally as Mandarins and are strictly graded under civil service rules which require rigid examinations in Chinese learning at every step. The rank or class is designated by the colors of the buttons on the cap. The word mandarin Mr. Wong traces to the Portuguese.

The Chinese word for a public official is "tsien," which means "a great man."

"Are all officials in China great men?" he was asked.

Mr. Wong smiled. "In their opinions," he replied quickly, "is this not so with your public men?"

SHAVE COST MR. BROWN $20.

Money Was Lost or Taken From His Coat While in Barber Shop.

A shave in the Platters Hotel barber shop cost Paul Brown, president of the Brown Tobacco Co., $20 Wednesday afternoon.

That amount was in the purse which Mr. Brown carried in his coat when he entered the shop, and when he put on his coat after the tonsorial operation the purse was gone. Mr. Brown was further annoyed at the loss of some valuable papers which the purse contained.

Policeman Lane arrested William Hagan, the porter of the place, on suspicion. A search of the prisoner failed to disclose the missing purse, and Hagan declared he knew nothing about it.

Mr. Brown said he did not care to prosecute Hagan, and only desired the return of his papers. The police are continuing their efforts to locate the purse.

Vanderbilts Received by Royalty.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, during their stay here, received much attention. They were dined by Grand Duke Boris at the imperial palace. Grand Duke Vladimir was among the many notable persons present. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt were also entertained at dinner by the Grand Duke Michaelovich and they gave a luncheon to Grand Duke Boris and other members of the imperial family on board their yacht, the North Star.

NEW INFORMATION AGAINST ARNOLD

Seven Charges of Embezzlement by Bailie Were Dismissed Thursday Morning.

The filing of new information against E. J. Arnold, head of the notorious get-rich-quick scheme that came to a moneyless end a few months ago, followed closely Thursday morning upon the dismissal of the seven charges of embezzlement by bailie.

The new information charges grand larceny, and is based on the complaint of Mrs. William Stevens of 123 Koeln street.

Mrs. Stevens alleges that she placed $400 in Arnold's hands on February 9, 1903, and the fact that this money was never returned is made the basis of the charge of grand larceny.

Arnold appeared in court upon the filing of the information and gave bond for $1000, his attorney, Thomas J. Rowe, signing his bond.

The new information in the Arnold case

MR. SMITH RETURNED HOME

Than a Berth in the Donjon Keep for Abandonment.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dalton was on the verge of issuing a warrant for wife abandonment. Charles A. Smith, of 1516 North Twenty-second street until he heard the husband's side of the story.

Smith admitted that he deserted his wife and two children a week ago, and when asked why he had done so, he stated that it was because his wife had a penchant for throwing rocking chairs, toilet room furniture and other articles of household furniture and cooking utensils at him.

"Why, Mr. Dalton," said Smith, "my wife would rather throw things at me than attend the best show on earth. She takes a perfect delight in passing rolling pins and skillets when I am not looking."

Mr. Dalton heard Smith's story, talked to him for a little while and finally concluded that home was better than a warrant for wife abandonment, and Smith promised to return to his family.

St. Louis Photo Engravers' Union, No. 10, P. E. U., will give its annual outing at Normandy Grove Sunday, July 26. Music, dancing and athletic contests are on the program.

FAULKNER'S TRIAL ORDERED TO BEGIN

Judge Ryan Overruled the Plea of Abatement for Dismissal of Case Against Former Delegate.

Judge O'Neil Ryan Thursday morning overruled the plea in abatement offered by the attorneys for former Delegate Harry Faulkner in support of their motion for dismissal of the case, and ordered that the second trial of Faulkner on a charge of perjury begin at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The selection of a jury will occupy all of the first half-day.

Faulkner's attorneys contended that the case should be dismissed, because the state witnesses had been deprived of their constitutional rights and forced to testify against themselves.

On Faulkner's previous trial he was sentenced to imprisonment for two years, but was released on parole in connection with the Suburban Grove Sunday, July 26. Music, dancing and athletic contests are on the program.

ROMANS THROG TO NEW BODY OF DEAD POPE

Thousands View Dead Pontiff's Remains, Splendidly Arrayed in the Emblems of Supreme Power, as It Lies, Exposed Through Grating.

Leo will be reached through a series of peacocks, grand, somber and spectacular, perhaps, than the world has ever known.

The removal of the body to St. Peter's last night was the accompaniment of a splendid ceremony, the feature of which was the procession by way of the royal staircase and private communicating passages between the Vatican palace and the famous church.

On each succeeding day the ceremonies will grow more imposing, grander and more beautiful, reaching their climax in those with which the body is actually laid out.

At the moment that the body was borne to St. Peter's, the private ceremony of depositing the remains in the vault of the Pope in the church of St. Vincent and Anastasia was taking place.

When the small procession arrived at the door of the special depository in the crypt, the key was not to be found. After vainly hunting for it the attendants were compelled to break down the door, which had not been opened since 1860.

The clergy and others gathered around the body of the Pope. The body was clad in all of the richest garments of his office. About the body was placed the robes he had worn when last he celebrated mass in the hall of the consistory, at the time he confirmed the appointment of Archbishop Farley of New York and Quigley of Chicago, on June 2.

There were displayed the golden miter, the gilded stole, the white cope, the red hose, the pontifical pallium and the papal tunic. Nothing emblematic of the power wielded by Leo for more than a quarter of a century, and for centuries by his predecessors, had been omitted.

The detachment of the noble guard and the clergy of the Vatican, wearing surplices followed immediately in front of the bier, which was borne by the nephew of the late Pope, Count Camillo and Count Camillo.

At the hall of Palfreniere, the cortege came to a standstill. There, the Cardinals, who had been waiting in the hall of the consistory, took their places immediately behind the nephew, who had been placed in front of the bier.

only when princes of the church are in mourning. No monarch was ever followed to the tomb by a more imposing array. Led by the cardinals, the prelates and the clergy recited prayers and psalms for the dead as they slowly entered theistine chapel, where the chapter and clergy of St. Peter's waited. The latter formally received the body. The torch, mace and crossword bearers went forward, while the chapter took a position immediately before the bier.

GIBBONS WAS CALLED TO ROME AT POPE'S REQUEST.

LONDON, July 23.—The Daily Chronicle's Rome correspondent says: "I called today on Cardinal Gibbons' representative in Rome. He authorized me to state that Gibbons started for Europe only upon receiving an express invitation from Rumpold to do so; hence, there was no breach of discipline."

"I am also informed that a similar invitation was telegraphed to Cardinal Motrain on the same day. Rumpold's action is due to the late Pope's wish that distant cardinals should, if possible, be afforded the opportunity of participating in the consistory."

RUDOLPH SCARE AT CAMP DAMERON

Guard Turns Out in Response to Straggler Who Gave Bandit's Name.

PROMOTIONS IN 1ST REGIMENT

Two Lieutenants of Fourth Regiment Escaped From Burning Tent, Losing Uniforms, Etc.

CAMP DAMERON, Lake Country, St. Joseph, Mo., July 22.—Lieutenant Gates and Reiger of Company C, Fourth Regiment, narrowly escaped being burned to death while asleep in their tents. The fire is supposed to have started from a box of matches.

Lieut. Gates was awakened by the smoke of his burning uniform, which hung just over his cot. He and his companion escaped without injury, but lost all their personal property and uniforms, valued at $300. A strong breeze was blowing at the time into the camp, but the fire was put under control before it could cause further damage.

Last night a group of First Regiment soldiers, coming in after taps, had to pass the guardhouse. It happened that Lieut. Grey, officer of the guard, was in the guardhouse. The stragglers were halted by the sentinels. "Halt! Who goes there?" Soldier: "Bill Rudolph!"

Guard: "Turn out the guard! Rudolph!" The guard tumbled out in a hurry, but it is not yet agreed who shall take the place of the straggler.

Major Reed of Kansas City is a guest at brigade headquarters.

The Second Regiment was inspected by Col. McDonald and Capt. Chambers and Lieut. Van Matre.

The Fourth is to be inspected Thursday.

Maj. McDonald of the Fourth is field officer Thursday.

THURSTON FALLS INTO MUD

Takes Temperature of Sea Water at Coney Island With Clothes On.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Former United States Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska has taken the temperature of sea water at Coney Island, but his enjoyment of the experience was curtailed by the fact that he had his clothes on.

The Nebraska and his wife visited the island as the guests of an old acquaintance who is now proprietor of an amusement resort there. They were taken on board an electric launch for a trip down the tide lock had been closed. The visitors were confronted with the alternative of walking over the dam a foot wide or of climbing the fence.

They chose the former, and Mrs. Thurston negotiated the distance without difficulty.

Her husband ventured across next and when half way over he lost his balance. The creek is only four feet deep, but there was plenty of mud and the former senator was so presentable when he finally reached shore.

A change of clothing was found for him, and the party came back to the shore declaring they had a good time despite the accident.

ORGAN GRINDER TO EARLDOM.

This Is the Transition William J. T. Poulette Would Make.

LONDON, July 23.—The claim of William Thomas Poulette, Viscount Hilton, the former organ grinder in the streets of London, who is a claimant to the Earldom of Poulette, was before the committee of Privileges of the House of Lords today.

The claimant, who is of striking appearance, was present with counsel, who requested an adjournment, as his evidence was not ready.

Counsel for the defense was allowed to state his case, claiming that it was impossible for the claimant to be the son of the late earl, though the earl's marriage to the claimant's mother was not disputed. The hearing will probably last several days.

Drank Acid at Bedside.

John Bartels of 206 North Twenty-fifth street is thought to be dying from curdled milk which he drank late Wednesday night, while sitting on the side of the bed in which his wife was sleeping.

Mrs. Bartels was awakened in time to ward the vital acid from his lips, but she had swallowed so much that the physicians despair of his life.

Jos. D. Lucas Had 48 Horses.

Phil Chew, Julius Kessler and Chris Doyle, as appraisers of the estate of the late Joseph D. Lucas, have submitted a report showing the value of his personal property to be $1,777.78, in addition to valuable realty holdings. In the list are enumerated 48 horses, including 13 thoroughbred horses; 100 head of cattle, 100 head of sheep and 100 head of other cattle.

Why shopping at Barr's is a pleasure at this, the warmest part of the summer.

No store in St. Louis so imitates a great hospitable Southern home as Barr's. Its broad aisles extend from east to west—Sixth to Seventh St.—and north to south—Olive to Locust St.—and the great doors on all four streets stand open, inviting every breeze that blows; added to this are electric fans that supplement the summer breezes and make every part of the store comfortable as a northern or seaside summer resort.

The attraction—always fascinating to women—of the newest and best of summer textiles, house-furnishings, etc., at half and less usual prices, together with the comfort and coolness, makes Barr's the most popular resort in the city. Try it.

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf of a book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and a dark, irregular stain along the left edge. A small, dark mark is visible near the top right corner. The page is otherwise empty of text or illustrations.

IT IS NOT REASONABLE

That you should know a good shoe by looks, not even the majority of shoe salesmen can do so. You MUST DEPEND on the reliability of the house you deal with—and only buyers of practical experience, who know every detail of shoe construction, can give a house this reputation. Brandt's 35 years of experience give you the assurance that the utmost reliance can be placed on their announcements.
